

Calling all Photographers!

The Long Island Reads Committee invites photographers of all ages in Nassau and Suffolk to submit their favorite baseball image for possible inclusion in an exhibit. Selected photographs will be displayed at the Brentwood Public Library from Saturday, May 2-Saturday, May 9, 2009 as part of Long Island Reads 2009; this year's book is Wait Till Next Year by Doris Kearns Goodwin, a memoir of growing up on Long Island with a love of baseball.

Think creatively: your image can be related to baseball in any way, shape or form. Crowd shots, baseball food, Little League games and more are all encouraged.

Please submit your image as a JPEG on a CD formatted for Windows to

Elizabeth Olesh

Nassau Library System

900 Jerusalem Avenue

or send electronically to Elizabeth@nassaulibrary.info.

Deadline for submission: Tuesday, March 24, 2009. Each artist may submit up to three images; there is no fee to submit your work.

Selected photographers will be notified by Friday, April 10. Selected photographs must be delivered to the Brentwood Public Library by Friday, May 1st for hanging and should be picked up from the Library between May 10-May 15th. All selected photographs must be framed with an attachment for hanging with maximum framed dimensions of 24" x 24".

Please include the following information with your image:

Your Name

Name of your local public library

Your address, phone number, and e-mail address

Title of piece

Framed dimensions

Price, if your piece is for sale

Photographers are also welcome, but not required, to include a brief artist's statement and biography or resume with their application.
